Cleveland Clinic has significantly invested in its security/police force and is very vigilant in providing a safe and secure environment for our patients, employees and visitors. Our ability to continue to minimize violent crime is directly related to the:

- Recruitment and selection of police officers and security personnel
- Mission-based orientation and training of all police personnel
- Training of employees in general
- Investment in security
- Focus on crime prevention
- Regular assessment of all security measures where Cleveland Clinic has facilities

Some important safety initiatives in place at Cleveland Clinic hospitals and facilities:
- Police & Security presence – with a focus to detect, deter and respond quickly.
- Police & Security staffing is comprised of Cleveland Clinic Police, Security, as well as local Police.
- We maintain strong relationships and cooperation with the local police departments where Cleveland Clinic facilities are located allowing for even greater comprehensive coverage of our facilities.
- Magnetometers installed in several hospital Emergency Depts. (additional locations are planned for implementation).
- Visitor Management Badging system employed at many facilities
- A strong Workplace Violence Committee and Victim Advocacy program in place

- On-going training for police, security and all Cleveland Clinic employees
- All Cleveland Clinic Caregivers are required to complete on-line Active Shooter training each year.
- A robust crime prevention and community outreach program, providing personal and organizational security awareness information to employees and neighborhood residents.

Background on Cleveland Clinic's Police Department:
- 3rd largest police agency in Northeast Ohio
- Ohio Peace Officer Training Academy (OPOTA) certified.
- CALEA (The Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agency) accredited: less than 10% of state & local departments have achieved this accreditation. Cleveland Clinic is one of only two hospitals in the nation that is CALEA accredited.

Statement from Cleveland Clinic
November 6, 2015

"The safety and security at our facilities is a responsibility we take seriously and have significantly invested in. For the safety of our patients, visitors and employees we routinely assess all security measures and ensure we have a strong police and security force in place throughout our health system."
